

Local Correspondence

John S. Hayward, Editor.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1883.

John Neal in the State of Maine.—Mr. Neal has at length replied to our correction of his hypothesis statement regarding the amount of liquor sold annually in this city, and he does it in a lawyer-like style, showing how delicately he can measure his steps in walking around the trouble. While since Mr. Neal was intent upon making it appear that a great quantity of liquor was consumed in this State, and in this connection he caught up a statement, perhaps true and perhaps not, we cannot now say, of the amount of profit realized by the liquor money in this city, and upon this he ventured the remark that at ten per cent profit, there was sold by the agency in this city sixty thousand dollars worth of liquor. This hypothetical statement was so artfully woven into his general scope of remark as to be generally taken as the utterance of a truth. At $60,000 of liquor were here sold, and we copied far and wide in the newspapers. We noticed that any such amount or even that $25,000 worth of liquor was sold by the agency here. We supposed that this would be sufficient to cause Mr. Neal to make a correction. We misook our mark. Long weeks passed, and the fact so artfully used by Mr. Neal to serve the purpose of a falsehood, thus proving the truth of Mr. Biddle's remark that facts are not to be taken back to us in the shape of a direct statement as on the authority of John Neal, that $60,000 worth of liquor were sold by the agency here. We again called Mr. Neal's attention to the subject, and at length, he having got over his heat to show how large an amount of liquor was consumed, he ventures to give us a slight statement. Instead, however, of meeting the merits of the case, he cunningly shrinks back into the mere form of words, and declares that he only said that $60,000 was the tenth part of $600,000. To this we reply, you said that $60,000 was the tenth part of $600,000. John Neal, Mr. Neal's expletives "pshaw." John Neal, do not believe yourself! What you do creep and burrow in the mercenary and shell of the matter. Fight it you will, fight hard, but let it be a good fight, and not a mean one! You compel us to think that your use of the profit realized in this city was for the purpose of giving a false impression, while you boast to us of the responsibility of wearing a head falsehood. Pardon us for thus placing, but if you, the well known John Neal, can thus dodge, what may we not expect among those men who play no claim to reputation or abilities like yours? You sin greatly, purvey only when you do set a thing, on such a subject.

We stated to you a fact and a truth when we said that not $20,000 worth of liquor were sold the last year by the agency in this city. You had a right to doubt our statement, and we could then have proved it had we thought it important to do so. But instead of this, you complain that we did not give you the exact amount said. We came near enough to it, at any rate, to show you that you made the figure by forty thousand dollars at least, which you would acknowledge. Upon this you may say as many hypotheses, mathematical and moral, as you please, as to the profit which those who make use of liquor pay to the city. Only please bear in mind that a smaller amount than these same people have all along been accustomed to pay to individuals, and at the same time they get a better article.

CATTLE SHOW.—The annual cattle show for this county will be held in this city to-morrow, on the vacant lot on Summer street, for the show of stock sold at the school house in the vicinity for the exhibition of manufactures, fruit, &c. There will be a meeting of the society at the City Hall at nine o'clock, A. M. for the purpose of choosing a member of the Board of Agriculture, and for the transaction of other business. It is very desirable that this should be a full meeting. In the afternoon the Society will be addressed by Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, from a stand on the exhibition field on Summer street. It is expected that the several committees will report their award of premiums at the meeting. In the afternoon, with the exception of the committee on horses, all the members of the committee on horses will attend to their duty at the meeting park. We understand that a town team of eight years of age is expected from Glenburn, and other from Holden, another from Orrington, and another from Orono. People generally begin to take an interest in the success of this cattle show, and some of our manufacturers intend to make a good display. In a year or two the Society will require the City Hall, or some other large building for the exhibition of manufactured articles, and do the thing up in beautiful style. There will doubtless be a large company in the city to-morrow, and every one must be wide awake and not yawn in the least stage.

Tax Subscribers and Grocers of this State.—An Exposition of Public Law, by John Brown, D. D., Professor of Exegetical Theology to the United Presbyterian Church and senior pastor of the United Presbyterian Congregation, Broad Street, Edinburgh, New York. Robert Carter & Brothers, 1883. This is a substantial volume of three hundred and fifty-two pages, from the press of Messrs. R. Carter & Brothers. The author has labored not only to give his own convictions, in a clear light, of the teachings of the principles of interpretation to the exposition of Scripture. As seems to have labored upon an earnest mind to learn what the word teaches, rather than to crowd into the word as many of his own opinions. The work may be obtained at the bookstore of J. F. Duran, near the post office.

The Skowhegan Charter.—The Skowhegan Charter expresses the hope that the Legislature now in session, will reject the proposition to purchase the Maine chapters lands.

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

General Hand Plann.—The Albany Country Gentleman gives a figure of this plan, with the following description: "One of the largest of all plans known, is one which originated somewhere in the State of Maryland, and which has received the name of General Hand. It has of late years received a good deal of attention from fruit cultivators, mostly on account of its great size. Its value is increased by its productiveness, and the uniformity of its bearing. It is roundish oval, the surface rather smooth, smooth, chocolate yellow, faintly mottled with green; flesh juicy, of tolerably good flavor, not equal to the Washington, and placing the fruit too low for amateur cultivation, and only for such markets as give the preference to the most showy sorts."

Will you read the Truth.

A good medicine will live, become popular and extend its sales year after year in spite of opposition. The people readily find out its virtues, and it gains passes from month to month with more publicity than newspapers can spread it. A living business testifies to the cure that a medicine has made for him, of far more service than any newspaper advertising.

In proof of what we say above we refer you to CHAMPTON'S VEGETABLE FINANCIAL and its effects. Its praise is in the mouths of all.

testimony to its wonderful cures. Among them we name Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. Richard M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States, with hundreds of others. Capt. Thomas Canoin—brother to the celebrated physician of the Emperor of France—was cured by it of a disease of seven years' standing after the skill of the doctors of Europe and America had failed.

In the United States Navy it is taken with great success, several officers being cured by it, officers of the Department, Washington, speak of its wonderful cures.

In fact, the rich and the poor young and old in every place; in the city and country find the same success attends its use.

HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE is purely vegetable, and warranted free from all mineral substances. This medicine by its mild pleasant and safe action on the stomach, liver, kidneys,

lungs, and the nervous system cures all peptic,
liver complaints, diseases of the urinary organs,
coughs, Asthma, Bronchial Affections, Catarrhs
of the Lungs, Scrofula, King's Evil, Worms, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, St. Vitus Dance, Fits, Nervous Affections generally, Fistula, Piles, Bowel Complaints with all diseases arising from impure blood.

As a remedy for the various derangements of the alimentary system, it seems to have no superior
 What we ask of the public, in introducing this valuable medicine is to throw aside their prejudices and give it a fair trial. We shall publish this paper from time to time. It is testimony from persons whose reputation is known throughout the United States, and who have been entirely cured
 when other medicines have failed. It is no uncommon occurrence for persons to be cured of the same complaint by the use of this medicine who have been cured by other medicines.

How the Discovery of the Vegetable Tincture was made.
DR. HAMPTON, now in his 74th year was early in life much reduced by disease and spent much of his living in medical advice, and grew nothing better, but, "at last," when finding that none of the General medicines could reach his case he came to himself, and thought, why should I die with disease when the Creator has provided in his vegetable kingdom that which will make me whole again? I will go and search out those roots and herbs which I have seen the Indians and the caribboneers give for the cure of disease. I will comprehend them so increase or decrease the quantities to such until I get such a medicine as will pure me of my disease. The doctor carried out his noble resolution, brought to his aid the experience of the YU MAM, and all others from whom any thing could be learned of the healing power of the roots of the vegetable kingdom. In a short time he by magic, the doctor was cured of his disease. He then there spread abroad, his benefactors sent far and near for this wonderful cure, which was freely given to them, and a lot of one with the same success until the demand became so great that the Doctor could not manage himself and without great pecuniary loss applied the demand gratis which induced him reluctantly by the advice of his friends to put a small price on his Vegetable tincture which was cheerfully paid, and considered but small need in the amount of good received by those who took this medicine—the most wonderful discovery in the

The world cannot produce Stronger Evidence than this kindly has to us by J. Stoeckel, Esq., of the Fountain Hotel, Light Street, a gentleman extensively and favorably known. The writer of the letter "Capit' Cur" is the brother of the celebrated physician to Louis Napoleon, President of the French Republic. Numerous of our friends

Hampton's Vegetable Lincture
It is a most certain cure for Dyspepsia, Sciatica, Liver Complaint, &c. and all diseases that obstruct the blood.

BALTIMORE, June 4 1891
Mr. Stockbridge, of the Pausan Hotel, writes: "I have your ~~dis-~~lention on the point of leaving the city."

avail myself of a few idle moments to thank you deeply for the medicine which has cured me. I had as resigned me to the use of my hands. I regret to send the four bottles more to every one my age. Since I had the fortune to use Dr. Hanson's Vegetable Incurer my confidence is so firm that, in gratitude to the proprietors of the medicine, I beg you to present my respects to them and advise them to make it more publicly known.

are Rheumatic cure. Having called on me on the 19th of April last, and seen me prostrated & my bed useless in all my limbs you can appreciate my feelings as well as myself the prompt relief I received from Dr. Happon's Liniment, and I am positive had it not been for your strong & able recommendations, I should still have been in the same state.

It is a pity this specific should not be approved by medical men and like all patent drugs

should suffer the imputation the public generally to such preparations. I myself who was opposed to a patent specific, took this me-dine with reluctance, and without confidence in it and it was only through your disinterested kindly recommendation and my critical situation that I needed me to try this really beneficial Vegetable in nature
You may inform Messrs Mortimer & H. about

at they are at liberty to make use of my name in the support of the good effects of the Balm. Vegetable Ointment, as it has cured me, in 10 weeks of a chronic inflammatory Rheumatism, contracted under tropical climate - and of 7 years' radical duration. I have only used three bottles, and find that even the deformed part of my hands are fast returning to their former natural appearance.

I have been under the treatment for several years in London and Paris, with all the great benefit, also while in New York having tried the Thompsonian and Homoeopathic remedies after having been tormented with galvanic batteries, cold and aromatic baths and hundreds of internal and external remedies, all to no effect, I am so far as cured by this Hampton's Vegetable Tincture &c. &c. therefore my dear sir, accept of this assurance w

My gratitude, and believe me your well wisher,
 F. H. C. (AKO)
 Cure of Consumption, Asthma, &c. I am in Debt to BALTIMORE, May 1 1852
 Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray.—Gentlemen:—It with pleasure I can testify to the great healing powers of Hays's Vegetable Mixture. My wife had been afflicted for three years, laboring under a constant hacking cough with a most vio-

ut pain in the right side, neuralgia of the head, and dimness of sight, very little rest day or night and great emaciation, and to all appearances a rapid consumption inevitable. We had the most famous physician in Annapolis (but his medicine did not give her any relief at all but growing worse any change in the least, and having read one of your pamphlets, in July last she concluded to try Hamilton's Vegetable Lincture and after tak-

g but two bottles of which (under a kind Providence) we perceived a great change for the better; her appetite improved, her skin became quite clear, coughs, pains, neuralgia, &c., entirely left her, and by the time she had taken a few bottles more she was completely cured, and is now in the enjoyment of excellent health.

Respectfully, EDWARD SANDS
Master of ship Gen Barber, Annapolis Packet No 10.

3, Tobacco Warehouse, Light Street Ward Hear 'Kim, ye Sick!
 o Medicine but Hampson's Vegetable Tincture etc
 had such a mass of Testimony
RAY VERNON ESKRIDGE U. S. N
 PORTSMOUTH, VA. AUG 18, 1851
 Dr E. Bouch—Dear Sir While I am in general health I am compelled to posed to Patent Medicines, and for the purpose of state that I have great confidence in the virtues Hampton's Vegetable Pincture. For several months past I have used it in my family and in dyspepsia, loss of appetite, dizziness and general debility, with entire success. So far as my experience extends, therefore, I take pleasure in recommending it to the afflicted as a safe and effective remedy.

VERNON ESKRIDGE
Chas. H. Hart

Mortimer & Mowbray, Proprietors, Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.
 Is General Agent, for the N. E. States and British Colonies, 15 Hanover-st. Boston
 For sale in Hongkong, by S. P. PERKINS wholesale
 Retail June 4 1864